The position may be verified by means of the angle taken from E to D, in the following manner: from the centre a, describe the arc E d, on which measure the arc E e, equal to double the value of the angle under which the side ED had been observed; draw a line through the points D and e, which, being continued, will pass the point of intersection of the circles described on the sides EF and EA; which proves that the point K was the true place of observation at 4 h. 50 m. The position of the point K might also be verified by constructing a circle about the side AF, considered as a chord double the value of the two observed angles AKE, EKF, or on one of the sides AD, DE, DF; but the first method is preferable. Calculation is used, under many circumstances, to find the radii and centres of the circles; but the centres a and b are more frequently found by means of the scale of equal parts, and a good sector, in the following manner: To find the centre a of the circle, of which the side EF is considered as a chord of  $65 \times 2 = 130$ , take the length of EF;...
